Senators See No Call for Speculation Probe

Believe Stock Market Conditions Are Generally Sound and New High Price Level Is Warranted by Business Situation

By PAUL R. MALLON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (UP)—The stock market's drop yesterday was discussed informally by members of the Senate banking and currency committee today and they generally agreed that nothing in the way of financial legislation could be considered at this session on Congress.

PENDING MEASURES

The LaFollette resolution to restrict broker's loans for speculative purposes is now on the Senate calendar ready for action and the Glass bill to withhold some federal reserve board funds from speculative uses is before the treasury department for technical consideration. The La Follette resolution is believed by the banking experts to be somewhat inocuous and inadequate while the merits of the Glass bill have not been sufficiently determined to warrant congressional action at this time.

Privately the members of the committee who are in close touch with money and economic conditions believe the market is strong and will sustain itself. They believe prices have been placed at a higher level than two years ago and that they never will return.

HEFLIN WANTS PROBE

This feeling of security as well as the fact that no legislation is considered by them to be in proper form had led to their decision to keep hands off in the present situation.

A resolution was introduced by Senator Heflin of Alabama asking the federal reserve board why it ordered a restriction of loans in order to which the fall in the market has been attributed.

Objection to its immediate consideration was made by Vice-President-elect Curtis, Republican floor leader, and it will come up tomorrow. Curtis wanted to consult the treasury department to see what the effect of the resolution would be before he consents to its adoption. If he opposes it, the resolution will remain on the calender indefinitely.

The market was the chief subject of discussion among members of both Houses today, there being no legislation of national importance up for consideration. The Senate moved along with the war and the House with the navy department appropriation bills.

HEFLIN'S RESOLUTION

The Heflin resolution follows:

"Whereas, in press dispatches recently, the federal reserve board has complained that money is being drawn from the channels of business and used for speculative purposes, and that some of said speculation is illegitimate and harmful, and,

"Whereas, said federal reserve board in its efforts to correct what it regards as an evil in this matter, has increased the rediscount rate, therefore,

"Be it resolved, that the federal reserve board is hereby requested to give to the Senate its reason for increasing the rediscount rate, and to give any other information and suggestions that it feels would be helpful in securing legislation necessary to correct the evil complained of and prevent illegitimate and harmful speculation."

QUEEN MOURNED BY ALL MADRID

Christina's Body Buried Near Husband, Late King Alfonso XII

MADRID, Feb. 8 (A.P.)—While all Madrid mourned, the body of Queen Mother Maria Christina of Spain who died on Wednesday, was interred with solemn ceremony today in a tomb close to that of her husband, Alfonso XII, in the monastery of the historic Escorial.

While the ceremony was in progress flags with mourning bands were hoisted on all public buildings and volleys of artillery were fired.

From early morning great crowds had assembled in the neighborhood of the royal palace and along the streets leading to the Northern station from which the body was sent to the Escorial. All business houses were closed and the city was shrouded in mourning.

The weather was clear and cold. Only the palace personnel and other officials made up the main funeral cortege which was flanked by officers in full uniform.

Behind this main procession marched or rode many private delegations. At the railroad station Premier Primo De Rivera, with members of his government and the diplomatic corps in full uniforms, stood by while the coffin was placed upon the train. An artillery salute was fired.

The Maria Christina cavalry regiment, of which the Queen Mother was honorary colonel, furnished the guard of honor from the escorial station to the pantheon of Spanish kings, where the interment took place.

King Alfonso, son of the Queen Mother, and Queen Victoria, took part in the ceremony throughout.

At the escorial station was another crowd awaiting the arrival of the body. Within the basilica of the monastery was a platform covered by a rich funeral mantle, the same one which was used at the funeral of King Alfonso XII.

Arriving at the door of the escorial, the body was taken from the funeral coach by the Hereditary Royal Huntsmen of Espinosa, who then delivered it to the Esquires of Casa y Voca. Then it was carried by Spanish grandees to the platform in the basilica, where Augustine Fathers took charge of it. Simultaneously the royal major domo, the Duke of Solomayor, delivered to the prior a letter from the King, directing him to assume charge of the body.

ST. THERESA CLUB FORMED

Young Women to Promote Activities of South End Parish

The Wednesday afternoon and evening services in honor of St. Theresa at the Church of Our Lady of Pompeii, Florence street, South end, have resulted in the formation of a St. Theresa Club, the members of which are taking a prominent part in the activities of the church.

The club is composed of young women of the parish and of young women of Italian extraction from all parts of the city. The object is to foster the devotion to the saint and to promote the activities of the parish.

One of its first affairs will be a carnival dance on Monday in the parish hall, 2 Decatur street. The officers of the new society are Miss Tina di Giacomo, president; Miss Mary Abbruzzesi, secretary, and Miss Flora Orlando, treasurer.

NORTHCOTT WILL DIE ON GALLOWS

Execution Mandatory in Case of Californian Who Slew Three

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Feb. 8 (UP)—Gordon Stewart Northcott, youthful Wineville chicken rancher, seemed unperturbed by an inevitable death sentence today as he lounged in his county jail cell, convicted of slaying three young boys.

He maintained the same outward calm that marked his court appearance last night when he heard a jury report that he was guilty of first degree murder, with no recommendation for mercy.

The 22-year-old Canadian will return to Superior Judge George R. Freeman's court Monday morning to hear himself condemned to die on the gallows. With no recommendation by the jury the pronouncement of the death penalty is automatic.

Under the California law the sentence cannot be carried out before 90 days and in that time, Northcott indicated, he would appeal.

In his testimony, Northcott declared he did not kill the boys for whose death he was convicted—Lewis and Nelson Winslow and an unidentified Mexican.

Only two ballots were required to reach the hanging verdict. The first was unanimous for conviction, but the jurors argued for several minutes before deciding definitely not to include a recommendation for mercy. The second ballot was unanimous for the death penalty.

The jury deliberated two hours.

Northcott was cool and tight-lipped when the 12 men filed into the courtroom to tell of their findings after six weeks of testimony and argument. As the verdict was announced he rose and spoke to the jurors.

"I wish to thank you, gentlemen, for the attention and consideration you have shown me," he said.

Northcott passed his chance to poll the jury. "A poll is entirely unnecessary, your honor. It is satisfactory," he told the court.

Manning and Fellow Members of Lifeboat Crew Are Decorated

CHERBOURG, France, Feb. 8 (AP)—Chief Officer Harry Manning, acting commander of the S. S. America, and other members of the famous boat crew who rescued the crew of the Italian freighter Florida, last month, today were presented with gold medals, commemorating their feat by officials of the Cherbourg chamber of commerce.

Capt. George Fried, commander of the America, who did not make the present trip, will receive a similar medal on his next trip to the French port in honor of his work as commander of the vessel when the hazardous rescue was made. French port and municipal authorities as well as American consular officials were present at today's ceremony.

"Crybaby" Police Head Pays Breach Promise

The $25,000 breach of promise suit of Miss Marie Schleicher against Albert C. Miller, Allentown, Pa., police captain, was settled out of court. The sum was not divulged.

Miller, church soloist and president of the Fraternal Order of Police, announced on Jan. 15 his marriage Aug. 6. Miss Schleicher, in filing suit several days ago, alleged they had been engaged since 1923, that she was known as Miller's sweetheart, and that although he is a 190-pounder, she considered him a "big crybaby."

Since the "Talkies" came, Hollywood is stronger than ever for Old Golds

"A year or so ago, Hollywood didn't think much about its vocal chords or its voices. We were all in the silent drama then.

"But the coming of the 'Talkies' has changed things. Lovely stars, leading men, 'heavies' and ingenues are guarding their throats with zealous care ... and smoking OLD GOLDS.

"It didn't need the 'Talkies' to win me to OLD GOLDS. I've been smoking them ever since they came to Hollywood, two years ago. But it's an added satisfaction to know they are kind to the voice, when the voice has assumed a new importance!"

working hours from time to time for the purpose of engaging in private employment for gain or otherwise without permission of his superior officers and the last charge against Crawford is that he failed to obey an order given him by the commissioner of public health that Crawford should report to the commissioner in person to receive directions at the commissioner's office at 9 a. m. on January 1, 1929.

"We find and decide that these two charges are sustained, that they constitute proper cause for Crawford's removal, and we further decide that William Crawford should be and he is hereby removed from the employment as junior chemist of the Department of Public Health."

Crawford's removal was ordered by Dr. Hoehow after Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson had laid before Hermann C. Lythgoe, director of the food and drug division of the Department of Public Health, charges that samples of seized liquor had been falsely analyzed.

The police claimed that Crawford had reported that certain samples were below the standard of intoxicating beverages, while private analyses, made of the same samples, showed them to be much higher than the 2.75 alcoholic content permitted by law.

Crawford demanded and was granted a public hearing, at which the only evidence brought out was the fact that he marked certain samples as denatured while his superior, Lythgoe, insisted they were drinkable.

VATICAN TO SIGN ON MONDAY

can and the pen will then be kept in the Vatican museum as a historical memento.

Reserve which was maintained until yesterday was abandoned with the announcement to the assembled diplomats accredited to the Vatican of settlement of the difference of the Holy See and the Italian State. Everywhere there is rejoicing at the imminent conciliation.

WORLD CONGRATULATIONS

Predictions are heard that the Pope will remain in history as "Pius the Great." Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, is hailed as the most remarkable statesman the church has produced in the last century.

The work of Cardinal Ercole Consalvi, who in 1801, under Pius VII, concluded the concordat with Napoleon which lifted the church from the distastrous conditions of the French Revolution, is recalled by way of comparison.

A flood of congratulations has begun to pour in upon the Vatican. Most, of course, are from various Italian provinces, but all parts of the world are represented.

Even the enthusiasm of His Holiness seems augmented, now that matters approach their climax. He rose much earlier than usual this morning. At 6:38 his valet, Cavalier Malvestiti, heard him moving about in his bedroom and knocking, entered.

He found the Pope already dressed and shaved. His Holiness making the explanation that he wished to hurry, having a lot of work to attend to. Nevertheless, he knelt in his private chapel and prayed longer than usual, afterward celebrating mass.

POPE SCANS PAPERS.

Breakfast over, he received Cardinal Gasparri and Mgr. Eugenio Pacelli, papal nuncio at Berlin. With them he re-examined all papers concerning the conciliation.

It is learned there will be two distinct treaties. One of these will deal with the solution of the so-called "Roman question." The other, much more voluminous, will contain the concordat. The first will have an international character, while the second will deal only with ecclesiastical and religious legislation in Italy.

Appointment of a group of cardinals and archbishops as Senators will be one of the first results of the signing of the Concordat.

The end of the Pope's self-imprisonment inside the walls of the Vatican probably will not take place until Easter.

Some persons believe the Pontiff then will choose to celebrate mass either at the Church of St. John Lateran, sometimes referred to as "the Mother Church of Christendom" or at the church of St. Charles, where as a newly ordained priest he said his first mass fifty years ago. To function at either church would require only a short journey for His Holiness, but it would signalize the scope of the accord between church and state.

Pending publication of the concordat, there is some speculation as to just what changes acceptance of the canon law by the Italian government will entail.

Civil laws probably will be modified to confirm with canon law. Except in purely religious matters the new law of the state will apply to all persons, irrespective of religion.

Some of the changes forecast are:

Legalization of religious marriages.

Removal of ecclesiastics from jurisdiction of civil courts.

Reinstitution of religious teaching in public schools.

Removal of civil restrictions on the clergy.

Property rights for religious orders.

Civil enforcement of church edicts as to church personnel.

Exemption of ecclesiastics from military duty.

Only civil marriages have been legal, but with the signing of the accord priests will communicate marriages performed to civil authorities for incorporation into the civil registers.

MYSTERY DEATH OF SMITH GIRL

Parents of the girl, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Curran, declared they believed their daughter had shot herself accidentally.

Their opinion was upheld by the medical examiner, Dr. E. G. Dodge, and he signed a certificate of accidental death.

Friends of Miss Curran, however, are not satisfied with the explanation of "accidental shooting." They ask why it was necessary that she should possess a pistol and why she should have retired to a bathroom with the weapon.

They recall that for weeks the society girl, whose every wish is said seemed to be gratified, had been morose, unlike her usual manner.

The society beauty, since her graduation from Smith College, had lived in her parents' villa and had taken active part in society programs of the past two seasons before attending Smith College she was a student at the fashionable Miss College in Oakland. Then she spent a year at the Sorbonne in Paris.

SCORE FLEE FUMES IN STATE ST. BUILDING

A score of men and boys, employes of two business firms on State st., were driven to the street today when an accidentally opened valve released sulphur dioxide fumes from a refrigerating plant on the first floor of the building in which they were employed.

Firemen, summoned by a bell alarm, worked in gas masks to shut off the flow of asphyxiating vapor. They could not find the faulty valve, however, until Frank Burt, 20, an employe of the A. J Deer Co., Inc., which owned the refrigerator, borrowed a mask, entered the building and closed the vent.

Workers in the basement plant of the Boston Blue Print Co. were obliged to flee from their benches.

DEATH CASE VERDICT IS AWAITED BY 'SUITOR'

The life of Santo Zona, North End laundry owner, is worth as much in the eyes of the law as that of the first boy of the land," Judge Joseph Quinn of Suffolk Superior Court said today, giving to the jury the case of Antonio Sebastella, now charged with murdering Mrs. Zona.

The jury retired at 10:45 to begin their deliberation. Sebastella faces the electric chair if found guilty.

Judge Quinn, instructing the jury, said the government and defense admitted that Mrs. Zona died from drinking wine poisoned with cyanide. He pointed out that the evidence against Sebastella was wholly circumstantial.

The judge commented upon testimony of police officers as to Sebastella's behavior when taken to the police station for questioning. He instructed the jury that it was the moral duty of every man to view the dead accused as innocent.

If the jurors believed that Sebastella did deny knowing Mrs. Zona, then they must ask for evidence of connection with Prudence Coleman, explained the judge. Coleman testified that Sebastella was not an associate in the case, he ruled.

The Government had maintained that Sebastella admitted the death of Mrs. Zona because although accepting extensive gifts from this lady he refused to live with her.

SCOUTS RALLY FOR BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

With 26,000 boys in Massachusetts taking part, the nation-wide celebration of the 19th anniversary of the organization of the Boy Scouts of America began today. Throughout the week practically 60,000 scouts in this country will be dressed in their uniforms.

More than 6000 boys and men in the 157 troops in the five districts directed by the Boston Council, Inc., have completed plans for a busy week.

The week includes the birthdays of such prominent Americans as Abraham Lincoln, Daniel Boone, ex-President William Henry Harrison and Thomas Edison, and references will be made to their lives during the daily programs.

In Boston proper the program for anniversary day, as today is known to the scouts, begins with a special scout broadcast from Station WNAC at 4:30 p. m. There will be musical numbers by local troopers, and talks on scouting will be put on the air by men prominent in scouting in this section.

At 8:15 o'clock this evening every Scout in America will rededicate himself to the ideals of scouting in taking the Scout oath anew.

All of the local troops have special programs in honor of the occasion. The troops of Allston and Brighton will assemble in the Brighton Congregational Church for the exercises, which will be followed by speeches from Scout masters that will intersperse a social hour. Similar plans have been approved by the other troops in Greater Boston.

All of the scouts will mobilize at the various troop headquarters tomorrow, the birthday of ex-President Benj Harrison, to do a community good turn or to give a special demonstration of scout activities.

The five troops in Needham, made up of boys, will have a special initiation. An emergency call will be issued, and the scouts will be timed as to how long it takes them to respond. These special mobilizations also will be put on by numerous other sections.

HOOVER TO STEP IN WITH POMP AND SPLENDOR

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP) — Promise of variety and color in the presidential inauguration ceremonies has assumed definite proportions with the announcement by the inaugural committee that 22 state groups have reserved space for themselves and retinues in the parade.

At the same time, the committee announced other entertainment features on the tentative program of events—among them concerted air stunts by army and navy fliers, and a great display of fireworks on the Mall.

Many of the executives, the committee said, will come with escorts in gorgeous uniforms. The Governor of Alabama will be accompanied by two companies of foot soldiers from the State National Guard and a band of 55 pieces. From Delaware, New Jersey and Virginia, artillerymen and cavalrymen will come with their chiefs. The Governor of Virginia will have 450 members of the Richmond Blues, the Richmond Howitzers and the Richmond Greys, and a fife and drum corps.

In the second division of the parade, the committee announced, 16 additional military and civic units have been assigned positions. Among them is a delegation from the San Diego Army and Navy Academy at Pacific Beach, Cal., and one from Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

The tentative program of public entertainment is to begin two days before the inauguration. On March 2 the navy yard will be thrown open to visitors. The army and navy will stage an air circus over the city, and there will be a riding circus at Ft. Myer, Va.

On March 3 special services will be conducted in all Washington churches. There will be a pilgrimage to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in the afternoon, with a concert in the evening.

Monday will be given to the inaugural ceremonies, with the parade and the charity ball in the evening.

28 WOMEN HURT AS BUS SKIDS; ONE MAY DIE

Amesbury, Feb. 8—Twenty-eight women were injured, one possibly fatally, when a bus taking a party of members of the Scottish Clans to their homes in Beverly after a dinner here, skidded on the slippery pavement and crashed into a tree.

Fourteen others were treated for minor injuries at the scene of the accident.

The most seriously injured is Mrs. Mae Bright, 29, of 38 Pleasant st., Beverly, who suffered injuries to her head, neck and back. She is at the Homeopathic Hospital.

Others at this hospital are:

MRS. MARGARET McLAUGHLIN, 31 Folger ave., Beverly, broken arm and collar bone.

MRS. AGNES NICHOL, 19 Davis st., lacerations of face.

DENBY, EX-NAVY HEAD, IS DEAD AT 62 YEARS

Detroit, Feb. 8 (INS)—Edwin Denby, former member of Congress, private in the Marine Corps during the World War and Secretary of the Navy in the Harding Cabinet, died of heart failure in the Whittier Hotel here today. He was 62 years old.

Edwin Denby was born in Evansville, Ind., but his early youth was spent with his father, Charles Denby, who held the post of consul-general at Pekin, China. His education in the province of law was interrupted by the Spanish-American War, during which he served as a gunner's mate on the U. S. S. Yosemite.

He was married in 1911 to Marion Twitter of Detroit. There are two children, Edwin, Jr., and Marion.

In April, 1917, Denby enlisted as a private in the Marine Corps. He retired as a major in the reserve.

He was appointed to the Harding Cabinet as Secretary of the Navy on March 4, 1921, and resigned three years later, during the oil scandal expose.

Catch Somerville Runaways in R. I.

Providence, Feb. 8 (AP)—Five boys, ranging in age from 12 to 17, who had left their homes in Somerville, Mass., Wednesday, with the intention of going way out West, were found by state troopers at a camp near Pocasset Falls in Johnston. In the cave with them was a quantity of canned goods to be used as provisions on the transcontinental journey.

The boys are Angelo di Meo, 14, Frank Pelli, 12, Daniel Capriotti, 12, Jerry Dadoli, 15, and Charles Stanton, 16. They are being held pending arrival of their parents.

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 7—Edward Crowley of Binghamton, N. Y., died of anthrax, the second such death in six months. The disease is rare among humans.

2-ALARM BLAZE IN SO. BOSTON; $5000 LOSS

Two alarms were sounded early today fora fire of undetermined origin which swept through the ground floor of the A. J. Hickey Laundry building at 209 East Second st., South Boston, causing a loss of $5000.

A passerby noticed smoke pouring from the rear of the building and sounded the first alarm. Immediately on arrival, Dist. Chief Phelan ordered a second. Firemen confined the flames to the first floor of the building, a two-story wooden structure.

MEDFORD CHIEF HEADS SOCIETY

Chief of Police John F. Welch of Medford was today announced as the new president of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association. He was chosen unanimously at the association's meeting at the American House.

Congratulations from all parts of New England poured in on Chief Welch today. During the 14 years of his service as the head of Medford's police department, the chief has been active in many homicide investigations and has frequently collaborated in the solving of crimes in other parts of the United States.

Other officers chosen by the association included a new vice-president, Chief Callahan of Chicopee, and a new secretary, Chief Allen Rutherford of Brookline.

Drops Dead as He Opens Store

Frederick Cavagnaro, proprietor of a store at 42 Fleet st., North End, collapsed today while opening his establishment for business and was found unconscious by John Burzillo of Mountain ave., Revere.

Burzillo notified police of Division 1 and Cavagnaro was removed to Haymarket Relief hospital, where he was pronounced dead. It is believed death was due to natural causes.

Joy and Sorrow

New York, Feb. 6—Sometimes a fisherman can be too lucky. Louis Kostowetsky's alibi for high motor speed was that he had caught three and was in a hurry home to boast to his wife. "One dollar per fish," shrank Magistrate Macreary. "It's lucky for you that you didn't catch 50."

WOMEN OFF TO VIEW MAYA RUINS

GERMANY PINS HER CASH ILLS ON GILBERT

Berlin, Feb. 8 (INS)—"With her back to the wall," determined to defend her future, Germany enters the reparation battle expecting little and fearing the worst. Gloom hangs over Wilhelmstrasse and the German counting houses.

The spectre of either new inflation or such strangulation of business and consequent impoverishment as to raise fears of a new Bolshevist wave, is the shadow that will be cast upon the wall if the terms prove too onerous.

Germans reproach S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparation payments under the Dawes plan, with being blinded by statistics unable to solve the facts or the the political dangers.

The German formula is that Germany is willing to pay because she lost the war, but not to the point of economic suicide. German experts are going to the conference without any fixed figures, but expect to present three main arguments.

First, that Germany has already paids sums of between 25,000,000,000 and 42,000,000,000 marks, though only 8,000,000,000 marks have been credited to her reparation account. Included in this sum is more than 9,000,000,000 marks private German property seized during the war, which was so squandered and embezzled that only 2,000,000,000 could be credited. This does not include German property seized in the United States.

Second, that Germany's ability to pay does not depend on Germany alone, but on conditions under which the world will permit her to do business.

Third, that Gilbert's cash transfers to the allies are already robbing Germany of so much capital that her business is being throttled by interest rates which are two and three times as high as elsewhere.

Germany will insist, therefore, upon retention of the Dawes transfer clause, which protects German currency from collapse by stopping reparation payments in case of danger.

Philomatheia Club to Aid College Fund

The Philomatheia Club, ladies' auxiliary to Boston College, will hold a Valentine bridge and tea in the Elks Hotel tomorrow afternoon in aid of the fund for a memorial window in the new college library to the mother of the Rev. James H. Dolan, S. J., president of the college.

Mrs. John M. Brennan, committee chairman, is assisted by Mrs. Vincent P. Roberts, Mrs. M. J. McCarthy, Mrs. Charles F. Stack, Mrs. Daniel J. Holland, Mrs. James W. McNamara, Mrs. Charles Winship, Mrs. Frederick Mahoney, Mrs. D. J. Ahern and Mrs. Bernard McGuiggan.

HOOVER TO GIVE OUT ALL NEWS IN WRITING

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 8 (AP)—President-elect Hoover, after entering the White House, will continue the semi-weekly conferences with newspaper correspondents inaugurated by President Harding and carried forward by President Coolidge.

At the beginning of his campaign for the presidency Mr. Hoover decreed that any statement he might make for publication would be in writing so that there could be no misunderstandings, and he has followed that plan since November 6. Aside from his speeches on his Latin American good will tour, he has made only a few public statements, and most of them have been in writing.

The White House newspaper conferences have been in a perpetual state of evolution since the days of President Roosevelt. The chief executive had his own peculiar system as did President Taft.

When President Harding took office, he started the semi-weekly meetings, subjecting himself to oral questioning. He found himself in difficulties and so decreed that all questions should be submitted in writing.

ADAMS FACES QUIZ BY CITY COUNCILLORS

was not going to conduct a grand jury investigation on the Finance Commission's Sunday sports "bribery" report.

Aside from expected declamations on the subject by Council members at today's public hearing, the "scandal" appears to have died a natural death with the Finance Commission's findings of "suspicious circumstances but no evidence."

As the hour for the Council hearing approached Charles F. Adams said he did not know whether he would attend or not.

This, he said, depended on the will of the Braves' trustees, a meeting of whom he was hastening to attend. As far as could be learned, however, the trustees consist of Adams himself, A. M. Lyons and Judge Emil Fuchs, and Fuchs is out of town.

WILLING TO APPEAR.

Councillors have expressed a wish to face Adams or Fuchs across the table and verbally castigate them, and Adams had expressed willingness to appear to answer questions regarding the Braves' ownership, admission charges, prices of refreshments and other matters.

Adams admitted having received from John Ballwin, clerk of the committees of the City Council, an "invitation" to be present at the hearing, but he said the letter was "in bad taste." He refused to explain what he meant.

The Finance Committee's report was sent to the district attorney of Suffolk county without any recommendation.

Dist. Atty. Foley's reply to questions regarding any action he might contemplate was as follows:

"I cannot say now what action will be taken. I have not as yet received a copy of the Finance Commission's report or the transcript of the evidence, which I am told will be sent to me. All that I have seen in the matter is in the newspaper accounts.

"From what I have read of this Finance Commission's findings I would say that there appears to be no evidence that would warrant my asking for an indictment from the grand jury against anyone.

FOLEY WILL NOT ACT.

"I will not place any matter before the grand jury of Suffolk county for the purpose of whitewashing anyone. The grand jury is not a whitewashing body.

"Indictments are not procured on 'suspicion' but on evidence. The Finance Commission, I should judge, has found and reported no evidence but only 'suspicions.'

"The February grand jury terminates its service today. I know of nothing at the present time that will call for a grand jury session after today until the regular session on the first of March."

Atty-Gen. Joseph E. Warner is expected to report very soon on his investigation of the Outdoor Recreation League which developed as a result of the Finance Commission inquiry.

Frederic E. Dowling, acting president of the City Council, issued this statement today:

"While the baseball scandal was being investigated by the Finance Commission, every newspaper in Boston saw fit to run pictures of the 13 accused councillors, giving them a lot of unsatisfactory publicity. Now that the Finance Commission has rendered their report and in their findings have absolutely exonerated 12 of the 13 councillors, I, as acting president of the City Council, call upon the press of Boston to at least be fair with the men in public life."

DE VALERA IS SENT TO JAIL FOR MONTH

Dail said that De Valera was really trying to flout the law of Ulster.

De Valera was arrested on Tuesday while attempting to enter Ulster in order to open the Gaelic Bazaar in Belfast. He was taken from the Dublin train by the Ulster police at Newry and was held in jail until today's hearing.

When De Valera was brought from the prison to face the charge of contravening the civil authorities act, he found a crowded courtroom awaiting him. He came in the prison van with an escort of armed police.

In answering the questions put to him by the magistrates, the Republican leader used Gaelic.

A Startling Innovation

By New England's Largest Fur Establishment

ABSOLUTE CLEARANCE of Samples — Floor Models — Slightly Used Coats at Ridiculously Low Prices — $27.50 and up

For the first time in our history we announce this extraordinary event which will save women of limited means hundreds of dollars. In the past, we disposed of all the fur coats taken in trade from our customers when buying new ones to dealers. This year, we selected the best ones, thoroughly renovated and cleansed most of them, with new linings, so that they look like new. We added our floor models and samples to this "fur coat party" and offer them at a fraction of their original cost.

Should it be inconvenient for you to pay cash, you may arrange for small weekly or monthly payments, while wearing your coat, by joining our Unique Fur Club, the only one in New England.

Remarkable Offer

To prove the value of these coats at their ridiculously low prices, we will gladly accept them back next season and allow you ALL you have paid in exchange for a new Scott fur coat. You will, therefore, have the use of the coat and it will cost you NOTHING.

This "Fur Coat Party" Is Taking Place on the Third Floor of Our Building and Will Continue Until Coats Are Sold.

Read First Letters in $25,000 Temperance Plan Contest in Monday's American!

PUBLICATION of the first of some of the letters received in the $25,000 Temperance Contest inaugurated by William Randolph Hearst will be made in the Boston Evening American Monday. A number of sample letters will be presented from those who have given permission for their publication. The fact of publication does not indicate that the letter or plan submitted has any particular merit. Nor does it affect the standing of the writer in the contest in any way. These letters are picked at random and they are submitted merely to show the trend of public thought upon the subject.

EX-U. S. SENATOR OFFERS TWO REMEDIES FOR PROHIBITION

From Paris, Walker Coleman Graves writes from the Guaranty Trust Co., in connection with the prohibition upheaval in the United States, a comparison of the way the moderate Frenchman and the "cut-loose" American drink in the French capital, due to the latter's escape from potable poisons at home, and adds:

"If I injure, murder, steal from, or interfere with the rights of another, that is crime. But in the case of prohibition the crime and trespass upon the individual's liberties are by the government.

"The government presupposes that an American individual lacks the intelligence and character to regulate his personal appetite and conduct; therefore 'prohibition,' the violation of which is called a crime.

"How can such violation be a crime? The mere possession and taking of a drink of alcohol has not injured another, nor has it injured the individual himself, until he by over-consumption of the liquid has trespassed upon the rights of another or has so degraded himself as to be a regrettable personality in the community.

"If the kind of alcohol or alcohol percentage now used is causing this condition, it is limitation and moderation that is needed. The law should apply to manufacture, but never should our government presume that our people lack intelligence or character and then itself commit a crime by trespassing upon liberties which the constitution guarantees."

REPUBLICAN'S VIEWS

The Graves' comments are among almost countless thousands of similar expressions by Americans in every sphere of activity on the Temperance Prize Contest conducted by the Hearst newspapers as the result of the $25,000 capital prize offered by William Randolph Hearst for the best practical substitute for prohibition.

By careful, conservative estimate the temperance contest headquarters at 220 South st., N. Y., has already received in one month of the competition which ends April 30, more than 6,500,000 words on the evils of prohibition and how to end these evils.

Phelps Phelps of the National Republican Club, N. Y., who represented the tenth assembly district in the State legislature at Albany for five consecutive terms and was a candidate for Congress in the last election, submits a plan to substitute temperance for prohibition and observes:

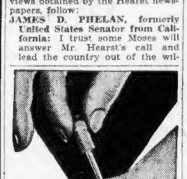
"Mr. Hearst is to be heartily congratulated for the great forward step he has taken in favor of education on this subject, by forcing people in every part of the nation to think about the deplorable conditions under prohibition."

HOPES FOR A MOSES

Other views, expressed in interviews obtained by the Hearst newspapers, follow:

JAMES D. PHELAN, formerly United States Senator from California: I trust some Moses will answer Mr. Hearst's call and lead the country out of the wilderness of crime and disaster, a condition created by misled morons and cowardly politicians. Our nation is ill. And, strange to say, its illness is a result of a misguided attempt to cure it of an earlier malady. Despite the talk of politicians, the lawmakers prefer to kill rather than to cure the sick, a practice worthy of some benighted heathen nation, not of the United States.

Mr. Hearst's generous offer of a $25,000 prize will help concentrate the minds of thoughtful people, deeply concerned in the welfare of their country, on the unfortunate situation caused by the Volstead Act. Unfortunately for the hopes of those who wish for a speedy remedy, the United States is composed of many elements whose problems are different, according to geographical location. The Southern states, for example, have a problem of their own. The whites there wish to keep the negro in subjection, so they endeavor to give them no possible access to alcohol, which has its justifications.



LESS DRASTIC

The Middle Western states are less drastic in their views and the Far Western states are more liberal. It can be seen that though the problem, per se, is a single one, the remedy must take cognizance of the different attitudes. One solution would be to relegate the question to the several states, so the law will reflect the sentiment of the community and, therefore, be enforceable. Another solution is federal supervision of manufacture and sale. All are agreed that the present law has broken down and any modification must, in my opinion, differentiate between use and abuse.

The Rev. Father Edward Wheelen, S. J., president, St. Ignatious College, San Francisco: I think Mr. Hearst is doing a fine thing for the country by creating an award for the stimulation of thought on the subject of temperance. Although many people in private and government positions have refused to admit the fact, the present condition under the 18th Amendment is definitely a problem: A problem made more serious by their willful neglect to recognize it as such.

The Legislature and the government have been side-stepping this problem by refusing to admit its existence. But, whether or not they admit it, the problem remains. Therefore, it is with hearty approval that I view Mr. Hearst's effort to get the best minds in the country working, to bring about a different situation. By creating a tangible goal, Mr. Hearst has done a fine thing which should certainly result in the discovery of a practicable plan to remedy the present state of viciousness.

ON THE SIDELINES

CURTIS W. BARKER, director of the Rochester, N. Y., Bureau of Police—The Hearst prize offer should bring prohibition and law enforcement to the front for final disposition, and for this reason the people should do all in their power to make the prize contest a success. Most important is the task of getting all the people interested and taking the subject out of the hands of the dry fanatics and the confirmed wets, and getting it where it will attract the interest of the great middle group, sitting on the sidelines, laughing at the absurdity of the present situation.

THOMAS H. GREEN, formerly president of the Boston City Council—Excess of law is a bad thing and we are getting pretty close to such a situation today. People are resenting it. The frailties in the prohibition laws should have been ironed out long ago in the 10 years of its existence, but today the inconsistencies are as many as ever and the whole situation is just as complicated.

We should therefore welcome Mr. Hearst's offer of a $25,000 prize for a prohibition substitute. I sincerely hope that earnest-minded and serious-thinking individuals having the social, moral and civic interests of the country at heart will acquaint themselves with the details of the prize contest as outlined in the Hearst newspapers and give their best consideration to the solution of the problem as embodied in the Hearst proposals.

SOLUTION MUST COME

FRED D. BIRD, Sheriff of Monroe County, N. Y.—There is no one better able to appreciate an effort to bring about a state of law enforcement than those charged with police duties. As sheriff of Monroe County the great and almost impossible task of strict enforcement of prohibition has struck me above all as a paramount issue. Somehow a solution of this question must come, and come quickly. The American people have never failed to dispose of a problem, once convinced that it is a menace to existing institutions, as is our so-called prohibition. I certainly believe Mr. Hearst is on the right track and his prize offer will lead to a plan to give the country true temperance which the people really desired when they anticipated the coming of prohibition.

Here Are Rules in Hearst Temperance Contest

THE purpose of the contest is to obtain a practical plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by State and Federal authorities, which will infer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than one thousand words.

3—This contest will close on April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practicable temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the Temperance Contest Committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

(If you have no objection to publication of your plan, please write "May print" in upper left hand corner of first page.)

BAY STATE WET MEMORIAL HITS WHOLE NATION

Even if the states of the union do not secede as U. S. Dist.-Atty. Tarr fears might happen over the question of prohibition, the action of the Massachusetts Senate in passing a resolution urging the repeal of the 18th Amendment has started rumblings throughout the country that may have a far-reaching effect.

From Washington comes word that the Bay State Senate's action has thrown fear into the hearts of the "drys," and Senator Harris of Georgia, in asking for the $24,000,000 prohibition enforcement amendment, warns that unless more money is appropriated to better enforce the law, other states throughout the country will be following the lead of Massachusetts.

Wets and drys alike—throughout the country—see good and bad effect from the Senate's action. The representatives of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and other dry organizations have threatened to bolt the Republican party because of the action, and expressed the belief that the action of the Massachusetts Republican Senate is embarrassing to Herbert Hoover.

CHIAMPA DEATH SUSPECTS FACE NEW CHARGES

Indictments charging robbery while armed will be sought before the Suffolk County grand jury today against three men now in Charles st. jail charged with the slaying of Anthony Chiampa, North End boxer, in a barn on the Derby Farm, Revere.

This was announced today by Asst. Dist.-Atty. Frederick T. Doyle, who said that the three murder suspects have been identified as the men who held up a dice game in Friend st. and collected more than $2000.

The Friend st. holdup has played an important part in the police investigation of the Chiampa murder. It is said that Chiampa's intention to aid authorities solve this and other crimes laid to a gang of racketeers led to his death.

THUG USES FIST IN HOLDUP, BUT GETS NO CASH

Morris Burofsky of Townsend st., Roxbury, a West End shoe store proprietor, was "slugged" by a would-be holdup man in broad daylight today in Dorchester st., near Ward st., South Boston.

He was walking in Dorchester st. when a man about 25 years old passed him, then wheeled around.

"Give me everything you've got," the holdup man demanded.

"You'll get in trouble," Burofsky demurred.

The holdup man, short and stocky, swung a fist to Burofsky's face, splitting his lip and nearly felling him. Then the assailant fled through Ward st., while Burofsky reported to police at City Point station.

Burofsky had $50 and an undorsed note for $200 in his pocket.

It's 'The Truth'

IN K. OF C. PLAY

Lillian Reifenstein, who plays one of the principal roles in "Nothing But the Truth," the comedy the Watertown Council, K. of C., will present in the Newton Opera House Monday.

K. OF C. TO GIVE PLAY MONDAY

"Nothing But the Truth," James Montgomery's rollicking comedy, will be produced by the Watertown Council, Knights of Columbus, Monday evening at the Newton Opera House.

A large cast has been rehearsing for weeks on the play that provided a starring vehicle for the noted American comedian, William Collier. The plot centers around a young stock broker who, on a wager of $10,000, agrees to tell the truth for 24 hours. Complications arising from this constitute the comedy.

The company, composed entirely of amateurs, includes Lillian Reifenstein, Eleanor McBreen, Veronica Hoey, Estra Boyce, Ethel Kehn, Arlene McGourty, Dr. James Donahue, Albert Colligan, Joseph F. Quinlan, James J. Carroll and Felix A. Leonard.

YOUTH ROBS 3 HUB WOMEN WITHIN HOUR

Police today redoubled their efforts to capture a youth who snatched handbags from three women in different parts of Dorchester within an hour.

The robberies threw the section into an uproar and special details of police were ordered out to protect pedestrians.

The first bag snatching took place when Miss Catherine Spjellman of 22 Rosemont st., Dorchester, was walking up Rosemont st. toward her home. A young man stepped up to her, grabbed her handbag, which contained $4 and dashed off. While she is not positive, she thinks that he ran to a waiting automobile.

About half an hour later Miss Annie Siskin of 72 Wildwood st., Mattapan, while walking on Wildwood st., near Morton st., was rubbed of her handbag with $21 in it by a youth who jumped from an automobile, seized it and jumped back into the car, which was driven by someone else.

Half an hour later Mrs. Francis Corcoran of 14 Verdun st., Dorchester, was attacked just outside her home by two young men, the younger of whom held a pistol to her chest and snatched her bag, which contained four $100 bills.

The descriptions of the youth who did the snatching all seem to tally. He is described by all the women as about 17 or 18 years old, five feet six inches tall, very slight, weight only 120 pounds, wearing a dark gray suit and a gray overcoat.

Accused of Evil Eye, Wife Seeks Divorce

New York, Feb. 8 (INS)—Witchcraft, the "evil eye," faith-healing and spiritualism—these, says Mrs. Mildred Hurster, 27, are but a few of the obsessions that have driven her to sue her husband, William, 35, for separation.

Hearing on her motion for $60 weekly alimony and $400 counsel fees was set for February 14. Mrs. Hurster said when one of the wheels of their automobile fell off, her husband accused her of attracting evil spirits.

Short Wave Lengths Hearing Postponed

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Radio Commission today postponed from February 18 to March 7 a hearing on the allocation of short wave lengths set aside for press use because attorneys for interested parties could not reach Washington in time for the hearing. Not only will transcontinental and point-to-point land allocations be considered, but also the proposed allocation of transoceanic channels.

'FENCE' JAILED FOR 15 MONTHS

Characterized as the chief "fence" for a band of thieves who prey on truck-conveyed merchandise, Samuel Goldstein, Salem st., North End, haberdasher, was sentenced in municipal court today to 15 months in the House of Correction.

Goldstein was convicted of receiving a case of raincoats valued at $969 and stolen from the truck of Thomas Lambert while Lambert was visiting his father in City Hospital.

Special Officers Arthur Tiernan and Leonard Banks of the East Dedham st. station, together with other officers, discovered that an organized gang has been stealing trucks with merchandise, storing the merchandise in various hideaways in Greater Boston and then abandoning the trucks.

Antique Dealer in New Building

Louis Joseph has observed the fourth anniversary of his entering business as a dealer in antiques by opening to the public a four-story building which he has had erected at 14 Newbury st. The building is purely Georgian in its exterior, the yellow paint on the bricks giving a flavor of London. It is possible for a visitor to make a complete circuit of the interior, from roof to basement, without retracing any steps.

Mothers! Avoid Too Much Dosing For Influenza

It May Upset Digestion And Thus Still Further Lower The Body-Resistance.

According to health authorities, a peculiarity of influenza is that its toxins upset the digestive system, especially in the case of children. Too much "dosing" still further disturbs the digestion, and should be avoided except on advice of a physician.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable because it is applied externally and so can be used freely with no risk of upsetting the digestion, nor can it interfere with any other treatment your doctor may prescribe.

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic is after influenza. Then, more than ever, colds attacking the weakened system, may lead to bronchitis, sinus trouble, or pneumonia. Heed even the slightest cold as a danger-signal and treat it promptly—without "dosing." Just rub Vicks on throat and chest at bed time.

Authoress Divorces Millionaire Who Called Her 'Insane'

Reno, Nev., Feb. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Emma M. Cosman, authoress, was granted a divorce here from Jack T. Cosman, New York millionaire and associate of leaders in the motion picture industry.

Mrs. Cosman alleged that her husband had trailed her to Lake Tahoe and later to Reno and spread rumors that she was insane. She also said that on two occasions jewelry, valued at $30,000, was stolen from her, but both times she recovered it by legal action.

The couple married in London February 3, 1914. The decree allowed Mrs. Cosman to resume her maiden name, Emma M. Shorts.

Wood and Holt Are Purged of Robbery

Sturgis, Mich., Feb. 8—Ralph A. Wood and Cecil T. Holt were cleared of charges of participating in the robbery of the Sturgis National Bank Dec. 17, with the dismissal by Charles L. Haner, justice of the peace, of warrants against them.

FRIED HAILED BY BIG CROWDS AT PROVIDENCE

Providence, Feb. 8—Another day of feting began for Capt. George Fried, of the steamship Florida rescues, when he arrived in Providence shortly after noon today from Worcester, his " own town.

Accompanied by Mrs. Fried, the captain alighted from the train in Union Station and was greeted by Mayor James E. Dunne and a delegation. He was escorted to the Biltmore Hotel where he was tendered a luncheon and then he was received at the State House by Governor Norman S. Case.

States Flag Association. The plan, in my judgment, is a most valuable one. Anything that will bring home the Flag and its import and what it stands for to the youth of the Nation, cannot help but build its values into our citizenship.

GOV. JOHN E. WEEKS of Vermont—I am in hearty sympathy with the Flag Contest of The United States Flag Association in the purposes of which are to disseminate proper knowledge of what the Flag stands for, and to foster reverence for the Flag of the United States as the symbol of American ideals.

GOV. NORMAN S. CASE of Rhode Island—I am truly much interested in the Flag Contest plan of the United States Flag Association and am happy to have the opportunity to indorse the movement.

"I sure was right—I lit a Lucky"

"So many people have made a fuss over me because in rowing back to the 'America,' after we had picked up the 'Florida' survivors, I was smoking a Lucky Strike. I can't see why there should be any excitement about this—it was the natural thing for me to do. Before we started out from the 'America' I made sure that my pack of Luckies was with me—I wanted the comfort and pleasure of Luckies no matter what happened. I sure was right. I'll have to admit that after we picked up the 'Florida' crew and started back, my nerves were completely let down. So I did the thing I always do at such times—I lit a Lucky. As long as I live, I'll never get another kick as I did from the sweet old toasted flavor of that Lucky as we were tossing about on the old Atlantic. I'm a hundred percenter when it comes to 'reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.' I lay off the things that would make me flabby and light up a Lucky instead. There's too much action going on in my life to have me moving around with a lot of excess weight which I don't need. There's another thing about Luckies. The toasting process, in removing the impurities, is a blessing to us who follow the sea. It prevents throat irritation which is a constant nuisance to those who are regularly exposed to salt air."

Morgan, Young and Lamont Go to Paris

Cherbourg, Feb. 8 (AP)—J. P. Morgan, Owen D. Young and Thomas W. Lamont, American reparations experts, disembarked from the R. M. S. Aquitania today and immediately boarded a special train for Paris, where they will attend the reparations conferences.

They managed to get aboard their train without revealing anything to correspondents who met them, except pleasure at the polite reception and their desire to avoid talking.

They had expected to have two cars attached to the special boat train, but the French had a four-coach train ready to carry them and their staff of 36 to Paris. Morgan, Young and Lamont had a private car to themselves and their suits were in the other two cars. The fourth car was a diner.

MAN'S INDIANA DIVORCE IS IGNORED

They Win the Honors for Speeding Into Matrimony

Barrow, England, Feb. —Married within a few moments after they met each other for the first time, a former 26-year-old spinster and a bachelor, 60, are on their honeymoon. The man read in a newspaper the report of a woman's death and wrote a note of condolence to her sister. She replied asking if he needed a housekeeper. He wrote back that he wanted a wife. They arranged by correspondence to meet before a minister, and the wedding followed.

Opera's Coming Star Begins Her Training

INSTITUTE NOTES

Europeans, Too, Prefer 'Em Blonde

Since the "Talkies" came, Hollywood is stronger than ever for

Old Golds

"A year or so ago, Hollywood didn't think much about its vocal chords or its voices. We were all in the silent drama then.

"But the coming of the 'Talkies' has changed things. Lovely stars, leading men, 'heavies' and ingenues are guarding their throats with zealous care . . . and smoking OLD GOLDS.

"It didn't need the 'Talkies' to win me to OLD GOLDS. I've been smoking them ever since they came to Hollywood, two years ago. But it's an added satisfaction to know they are kind to the voice, when the voice has assumed a new importance!"

(SIGNED) Wallace Beery

WALLACE BEERY transport pilot No. 3298, now appearing in "Tong War" tells how the movie stars are guarding their throats with OLD GOLDS

Why not a cough in a carload?

OLD GOLD Cigarettes are blended from HEART-LEAF tobacco, the finest Nature grows. Selected for silkiness and ripeness from the heart of the tobacco plant. Aged and mellowed in a temperature of mid-July sunshine to insure that honey-like smoothness.

NOTABLE OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS COMING FROM AFAR TO ATTEND THE SENIOR SUPPER DANCE, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

NO SENIOR SUPPER DANCE DATE ARRIVES ON THE SOCIAL calendar that does not see persons of social consequence from out of town added to the smart local set. This evening's quota includes interesting and diverse personalities. Mr. and Mrs. Sigourney Thayer (Emily Davies Vanderbilt) arrive on the day of the Supper Dance to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Parker at their Commonwealth ave. establishment and to mingle in the 11 to 4 o'clock function that has its own chic and its own niche in the winter's fashionable panorama.

A DUO OF PRETTY GIRLS COMES UP FROM MERIDEN TO mingle with Boston's elite at the dance. Miss Mary M. Hughart and Miss Isabelle Hughart are to be guests of the Richard Everetts. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Farley from Manhattan's dizzy social heights are the Fairfield Goodales' guests. Mrs. Charles Belknap brings her sister, Mrs. John P. Goodwin, of Brookville, way out in the Hoosier State, and Mrs. George A. McCook of Pasadena, in the faraway Golden State, is guest of Mrs. Donald M. McIlwain. Nearer by, from the Providence upper crust, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ives Gammell, Jr., come to be guests of the Percy Blacks.

SOCIETY, SCATTERED THROUGH THE OPERA HOUSE, GAVE A semblance of brilliance to a Thursday evening's audience. Individuality, the treasonable, once glinted the more brightly, perhaps, for their very lack of numbers. Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, in a box party with Mr. Paine, was really turned out in white, shot through with gold, and a wrap that swung priceless Russian sables against white velvet. Mrs. Paine's jewel box resembles King Solomon's mines for its endless array, and from it to accompany last evening's regalia, she chose pearls, long strands in a matched perfection.

OUT FROM THEIR BOXES DURING THE promenade interval came the regulars of the opera season—Mrs. Donald McKay Frost in a white satin gleaming with brilliant tracery; Mrs. James Lawrence in black, a gown strictly in the formal mode with sequins for glitter; Mrs. Henry Dubois Tudor in velvet like the tropic sky at midnight; Mrs. Sidney Winslow in a gown of rose-red tones; Mrs. Sohier Shaw wearing a jet black gown; Mrs. Wallace Goodrich handsome in a beaded gown of black combined with rose; and Mrs. Arthur Kennard in white moire that had its odd and uneven hemline done with trailing sash ends.

FOR THE FIRST TIME THIS SEASON THE H Wendell Endicott box had for its hostess Mrs. Endicott herself, and charming as usual in a velvet frock. For warmth's sake and for beauty she added a lovely wrap of ermine banded with seal. Mrs. Morgan Butler set off her blondness with a black taffeta that fluttered ruffles in the mode of the moment, as did the gown Mrs. Francis Sears wore. Mr. and Mrs. Endicott had with them for box guests Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hinkley of Dedham. The Hugh Bancrofts were in their box, entertaining friends. Mr. and Mrs. I. Tucker Burr were in their usual orchestra places, and so were Mr. and Mrs. George Hawley.

MRS. HAWLEY ACHIEVED OPERATIC ELE- gance in black velvet with pearls and a diamond pendant. She and Mr. Hawley do their opera season with the intentness of regulars and sponsors, belonging as they do with the music loving ones of Mayfair. Mrs. A. Cecil Butler of the younger matrons was pictorially a part of the promenade in a gown of gold lace. Miss Eleanor Frothingham wore black and silver; Miss Helen Moseley and Miss Ellen Hallowell came up from their orchestra reservations to stroll and chat at the proper interval. Miss Moseley and her mater, Mrs. Frederick Strong Moseley, have been almost daily attendants, being devoted to grand opera for the music's sake, as well as for its pageantry.

ONE HAS TO REGRET THE ABSENCE OF COL. GEORGE EDDY WARREN AND MRS. WARREN from the spotlight that focuses on the opera house these two weeks. The Warrens are Europe-bound, sailing away to fascinating foreign playgrounds via the Conte Grande, that departs majestically tomorrow. Egypt is their eventual destination, land of ancient ways and past century marvels. They will do the Nile during lazy sunny hours on that most slow moving of waterways and all the lively modern things society approves in its new, favorite playground.

ENGLAND'S FLU DEATHS DOUBLE

London, Feb. 8 (AP)—Influenza, increasing in virulence, has nearly doubled [illegible] in 108 [illegible] cities and towns. London has been hit hard, but Liverpool and Manchester have suffered even more.

Due to the epidemic and bronchial pneumonia, the death rate in the 107 cities and towns increased from 14.4 to 19.6 per 1,000 [illegible] Jan. 12 to 14 the total [illegible] nearly double the ordinary annual rate of eleven to a thousand.

The 107 communities listed 652 deaths last week from influenza alone as compared with 321 the week before. Since Jan. 1 there have been 3,376 deaths from influenza as compared with 661 for the same period in 1928. These figures do not include deaths from [illegible]

Hero Manning Gets Medal at Cherbourg

Cherbourg, Feb. 8 (AP)—Chief Officer Harry Manning, acting commander of the Ss. Strauss Opera Marvelously Presented

By MOSES SMITH

It was Red Letter Night at the Boston Opera House. On Thursday night of last week the Chicago Opera Company gave a thrilling performance of Wagner's "Die Walkuere." And last night the same organization matched, nay bettered, this record with their production of Strauss' comedy opera, "Der Rosenkavalier."

The story of the performance can be epitomized by a description of the last act when three principal characters remain on the stage after the tumult of the inn scene. Here was Frida Leider as the Princess and Maria Olszewska as Octavian, two superlative opera singers recently come out of Germany. Add to them Edith Mason American soprano, who need not yield to anyone in the matter of singing.

Imagine these three delivering Strauss' beautiful closing music, with the prodigious Polacco leading the orchestra in the pit—and the imagination fails short of the actual accomplishment.

Such perfection in ensemble, such perfect blending of three noteworthy voices, even the opportunity of hearing three such voices at all, I do not expect to encounter in many years, if ever again.

This, together with Alexander Kipnis' interpretation of the role of Baron Ochs, constituted the central interest in the performance. These four singers bear the great brunt of the work. Kipnis' impersonation of the licentious nobleman was a masterly job. Some might have wished him more restrained. For me, any more restraint than he exercised would have been out of character with the libretto. Vocally, Mr. Kipnis was no secure and artistic as ever.

All four were quite brilliant. Frida Leider was making her second appearance here, after her debut as Brunnhilde in "Die Walkuere." She justified the extravagant praises lavished on her at that time. Such nobility of song is rarely heard in the opera-house or concert-hall.

Miss Olszewska made a stunning Octavian, a handsome person who looked and acted like a cavalier. I say this in tribute to Olszewska's histrionic art, for she could be strikingly beautiful and feminine as Fricka in "Die Walkuere." Her voice was as much of a revelation as it had been on the three previous occasions—a voice of gorgeous quality and of pure tone-production.

Edith Mason was the Sophia. Miss immutable than the beauty of her singing, which we have come to expect, was her unexpected dramatic ability in portraying Sophia.

Maine Shipbuilder Dies at the Age of 82

Bath, Me., Feb. 8 (AP)—Frank S. Bowker, Phippsburg Center shipbuilder, died at the home of a daughter here today at the age of 82. Mr. Bowker constructed 38 vessels of various types and rigs. The last was the four-masted schooner Laura Annie Barnes, which was launched in 1920. Some 20 years ago he served as a representative in the State Legislature.

Greenfield Silk Plant to Operate

Greenfield, Feb. 8—Rumors that the plant of the McLane Silk Co. might be closed down were set at rest, when, at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the company, it was announced that it had been decided to abandon the plant of the company at Scranton, Pa., and concentrate the activities of the company at the local plant.

Soviets Seize Baptists In Revolution Plot

Moscow, Feb. 8 (INS)—A group of Baptists, presumably Americans or former Americans, have been arrested near Minsk, charged with counter revolutionary activities, the newspaper Izvestia stated today.

This group is alleged to have been a Baptist institute at Philadelphia in 1909 entered White Russia illegally and established a colony.

According to the Trud, members of the colony are accused of crossing and recrossing the Polish frontier, selling information to the American and British legations in Warsaw.

LADIES MUST LOVE

by Robert Jerry Shannon
Author of "The TAXI DANCER"

Six-Day Novel by a Famous Author

Faith Purcell after several years of stage returns to her Southern home to find her best friend, married to Tom Wheeler, and carrying on a flirtation with Jack Abernathy, a wealthy married man. Tom, meanwhile, is very attentive to Velma Leeds. Faith refuses Jack's invitation to dine. At a dance given by one of Jack's friends, Velma, who is attracted to Jack, tries to flirt with him. Faith, angered, decides to leave with Tom. Velma, however, wants Jack to drive her home. He refuses.

She returns to the dance floor and Faith joins her and tells her that Jack is waiting for her. She has seen Tom absent himself. She later sees him and Jane go to a sedan in the dark and overhears Tom and Velma making love. They start for the same sedan. Faith gets there ahead of them, unseen and warns Jane, who disappears. Tom and Velma find Faith with Abernathy. He thanks her for her action and she tells him Mrs. Abernathy is planning to sue for divorce. Jane returns frightened.

Faith decides to get to win Abernathy to save Jane. Jane on hearing this swears she will run away with him. Jack telephones Faith. She meets Mrs. Abernathy in his office and brazenly tells her she wants to marry Abernathy. The wife is amazed and indignant.

She refuses to divorce Abernathy. Faith is furious at Jack for getting her out about Jane's character. Abernathy tells her that Jane is [illegible]

CHAPTER 5

"All right—I'll do anything you say," Abernathy said with a queer thrill in his voice. "I don't want to oppose you in anything—I want to obey you—be a slave—"

"Good! Be nice enough to stand up to me and tell her that—and we'll start the last minute."

He took a step toward her but she shook me arms.

A vivid flame red and Faith wanted with Jack Abernathy for Jane.

Fate looked curiously from Faith to Jack.

"He's nothing so terrible I suppose," Abernathy said. "It's all this. I've found out I'd rather have you than I thought I did Jane."

Jane turned from her suddenly, faced Faith with a look on her face that was a mask of resentment frozen in ice.

"You turned him against me!"

"There's no use being a hypocrite, Jane," Faith began in [illegible]

Life of Baby Saved by the Removal of Head-Size Tumor

Worcester, Feb. 8 (AP)—A rare surgical operation on a child two days old was successfully performed here recently when a mengioncele, or tumor, larger than the infant's head, was removed by Dr. Benjamin H. Alton. At present the child is resting comfortably in a local hospital two weeks after the operation.

According to medical authorities here, the operation is unusual because of the size of the meningocele, its position on the baby's head, and the fact that an anesthetic was administered.

$157 (Less Tubes)

New Type Electro-Dynamic Speaker

The Philco Console

A full-length console cabinet of exquisite design. Walnut panels, carefully selected for beauty of grain and expertly matched. No nails or screws. All joints doweled and glued—in every respect a high-grade piece of cabinet work.

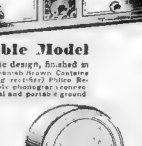
Price, without tubes, $157—an Amazing Value!

The Highboy

Low XVI period style. Handsome walnut veneers. Fluted legs and X bars matching doors. Constructed with panels in small size to lower and quiet—no rattle, cleats or screws. Exquisite finish. Includes genuine Philco Electro-Dynamic Speaker

The Table Model

Simple, classic design, finished in satin Walnut or Spanish Brown. Contains 7 tubes (including rectifier) Philco Receiver powered with phonograph connection. Built-in aerial and portable ground



The Philco Speaker

A speaker specially designed for use with the Table Model Philco Receivers listed above. Reproduces the musical scale—high notes as well as low notes, in perfect balance and proportion.

THESE new 1929 models contain Philco's own radio discovery—Neutrodyne-Plus—which has thrilled the radio world with its startling performance.

Vast Distance Range

Philco has brought distance back into its own. Super-power is the secret; power to break through interference; power to reach out and bring in distance at volume you can enjoy!

Split-Hair Selectivity

Powerful stations confined to narrow limits on the dial. A hair's breadth turn often tunes out one station completely and brings another booming in. Sharp—clear—no "groping."

Flawless Tone

High notes, pure and clear; low notes rendered in their true proportion—an actual RE-production of the tones before the microphone.

Now—Greater Than Ever!

And now, greater power than ever, and even sharper tuning! Distance range that is nothing short of amazing! And startlingly true to life!

An Astounding Value

And then—most surprising of all—this superb quality Philco is available at a price of only $157 in an exquisite, full-length Console Cabinet. Truly, the most remarkable value on the radio market today!

Philco engineers have perfected the Dynamic Speaker. No more unnatural "boom, boom" to drown out the melody; no more blurred speech. High tones have been restored to their proper place, while preserving the pleasing background of the lows. Melodies are heard in proper proportion to the bass. Speech is wonderfully clear and distinct. Startlingly true to life! AND—tremendous volume without distortion.

Neutrodyne-Plus

Power, super-power—that's the secret of Neutrodyne-Plus, Philco's New Radio Discovery. The power to perform under the most difficult local conditions. This great power Philco engineers have added for the first time to Neutrodyne, famous for its pure, clear tone.

No Aerial Needed

Philco needs no aerial for local and many distant stations. All-electric—distinctly dry. Range control cuts out local interference and separates distant stations. 8 tubes, including rectifier. Push-pull amplification. One dial control. Four condensers.

Short Training Period Enough for Sharkey

By JACK SHARKEY

MIAMI FLA Feb 8—It will not require more than 16 days of strenuous training to put me on from edge for my bout with Young Stribling here on February 27

When I get into the ring with only the regulation togs on I feel as light as a bird and am able to step along at a fresh clip

I was also anxious to come to Miami early so as to get acclimated When at home I spend much of my time in the mountains of New Hampshire hunting and fishing

WHEN a boxer is shooting for a

I then eliminate my work on the big bag and restrict the rest of my drill to punching at the small bag skipping rope and shadow boxing

MOST any kind of a fair heavy

At first, of course I get tired quickly but by forcing myself I gradually reach a point where I can breeze through six miles with not puffing

When I first got into the movies I used to be pretty rough on my sparring partners

TAMPA, FLA., Feb. 8—I found Mr. Boston parading along one of the principal streets of Tampa. The veteran carried his brand new panama in his right hand. "This is my first visit to Tampa since the spring of 1919," said the veteran [illegible] Red Sox [illegible] to Florida, [illegible] and Red Hill Rangers, while he [illegible] than Babe Ruth as his shining star.

"It was [illegible] to earn a reputation as a home-run king. The fellow who set me [illegible] to the Yankees and started on his record breaking drive.

"We [illegible] dozen times to come over and [illegible] invitations but as the boat happened [illegible] I didn't visit St. Pete during my 1919 visit.

"NOW they have one of those million-dollar bridges running to St. Pete, and I am to take a ride over there today. I know that Judge Emil Fuchs of the Braves will be happy when he reaches St. Pete this year, as he then will not have to listen to wrangles over the Sunday baseball bill in Boston.

"In St. Pete, they tell me, they only have time to talk about their own wonders.

"Hempen got to talking about some of the new crop of young heavyweights just before he started for here.

"I consider Ernie Schaaf of Boston one of the best of the newcomers in the heavyweight ranks," said the Tiger. "I saw him fight Harold Mays at one of Eddie Mack's shows in Boston last summer.

"Schaaf is aggressive, a good puncher, has courage, and is young. He will go a long way in the heavyweight division.

"If had Ernie matched to battle Benny Touchstone in the semifinal to the Sharkey-Stribling bout, but Touchstone ran out on me. So I am going to get another opponent for Schaaf.

"I am anxious that the big crowd which is going to attend the Battle of Miami have an opportunity to see Ernie blaze away with both hands."

SHARKEY will get down to serious training for the bout with Stribling on next Monday. Before coming here, he engaged in a [illegible] workout at Miami Beach.

He [illegible] three rounds, blazed away at the big bag for three minutes and [illegible] bowed for two frames.

Meanwhile Stribling [illegible] himself to hard work.

Beginning Monday Sharkey will have Pat McCarthy and Paul Hoffman as sparring partners. He will also secure the services of a good heavyweight.

It seems that every heavyweight in the country is anxious to come here to meet either Sharkey or Stribling in their training. Ordinarily [illegible] to obtain suitable sparring partners for heavyweights, but the publicity [illegible] Miami in Florida has caused a great many first-class battlers to decide they would like to get some ride in the South at Miami."

THE BAER FACTS -:- By 'BUGS' BAER

PROF. EINSTEIN has written a book explaining his theory of relativity. He has also explained it to the scientists treading into their lairs for razzes and latter tabloids.

The professor knows a lot of words containing six and seven verticals and has passed that educational stage where a man can hang his hat on a toothpick and have enough room for his overcoat too.

When a man can stop babbling it is dangerous to call him out of bed. No one realizes this better than a bawling baby by the strong

But like all others he made the mistake of saying something we could understand.

He has broken the law slowly but surely. Once a small fry guessing on a Government question.

Einstein is in Europe. We are here. But if he wants to talk it over we will meet him half-way

Sure Way to Stop Coughing

This Prescription Relieves Almost Instantly

Coughing usually due to causes which patent medicines and cough syrups do not reach. However. The tone, a known doctor's prescription, relieves coughing with the very first swallow. It works on an entirely different theory, has a double action relieves the irritation and goes direct to the internal cause.

Unlike most cough medicines, Thoxine contains no chloroform, dope, or other harmful drugs. Safe for the whole family. Also excellent for sore throat. Quick relief guaranteed or your money back. 35c, 60c and $1.20. Sold by Lyon Drug Co., Cole Drug Co., Miller Drug Co., Conservatory Pharmacy, Walker-Rintels Drug Co., and all other good drug stores.

He claims that only 10 men in the world can understand it. We would like to know the names of the other eight.

We can now state without fear of corroboration that Einstein is wrong. He is rushing around in circles like a ringworm with the wanderlust

He stepped off the wharf of facts and there wasn't a boat there. We would rather be a small fish in a smaller pond than a whale in the river of doubt.

His theory about double-breasted coats in all wrong like a no smoking sign in a cigar store.

We admit that we stand alone in our denunciation of Einstein. When we look around for support we find that we are as deserted and as barren as fly paper in January.

What he claims to be an indisputable assertion of the rumor of genuine is really the reaction after trying to read the labels on drug stores during a slight dizzy

ABOUT PEG WOFFINGTON'S LIFE

BY RUTH MORRIS

PEG! It is a name to conjure with, and more brilliance and more evils than that of Peg Woffington in eighteenth century London when she fascinated the town in three days, meant to stay a month.

In the heart of Dublin at a very humble place was a house owned by Mistress Clarke where Peg was born. Here for the amusement and incoming pennies of the merchants and strangers who thronged the square Peg danced to the music of an apple falls to earth. Once, when Madame Clarke spied a latent talent, offered Peg the post of singing and dancing girl. It seemed to her that the heights of heaven had been scaled.

John Gay's "Beggar's Opera" was at that time receiving rave notices of London and the public manager of Ireland, one whose beauty and charm would make Polly Peachum convincing dramatic fare.

And here was his Polly, singing for tu pence in a dingy booth!

So Peg stepped into her first theatrical role. She became an immediate success. Her beauty and charm were the talk of the town. Her voice was pronounced divine. Her dancing was the delight of the gallants.

Once there her career was meteoric and she became the idol of audiences as Dublin had never known before. The Dean of Clogher, a friend of David Garrick, a retired wine dealer was chief prayer and adored matinee idol. He fell madly in love with Peg and following a recent conviction they established a

EXTRA HOLIDAY FOR BROKERS ORDERED

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor

Unexpectedly the closing of the New York Stock Exchange tomorrow has just been announced. Brokers are swamped with work, and the extra holiday will be one in name only for most of them. In addition, next Tuesday, Lincoln's birthday, will provide a nominal rest period.

* * *

Yes, brokers' loans, while just announced at a new high record, can be rather confidently counted on to show a decrease next week.

* * *

W. S. Cousins wires me: "Wall Street was puzzled over the reserve board's ruling, for the reason that its latest report shows out of a total of 5½ billions of speculative loans only four billions are provided by the New York city member banks, the balance of 1½ billions coming from outside banks and industrial corporations.

* * *

"These outsiders are loaning $2,615,000,000 for stock market purposes, and instead of suffering, as the reserve board points out, by high money rates, they are making a profit of $135,000,000 a year at 5 per cent interest. On the executions go up to 8 and 10 per cent, their profits correspondingly increase. Where is the hardship in that?" Wall Street asks.

* * *

Executive Manager D. S. Sylvester of the Savings Bank Association of Massachusetts points out: "Deposits in the 196 mutual savings banks of Massachusetts on January 1 amounted to $2,960,078,000. This sum is owned by nearly three million depositors in these banks.

* * *

"A comparison of the total deposits since the first mutual savings bank was formed in 1816 bears out a paraphrase of the famous saying that 'the first billion is the hardest,' because it was not until the year 1917 that the deposits in the mutual savings banks crossed that mark. It is significant that in the last 11 years the savings of the inhabitants of the State have increased one billion dollars.

"Aside from the record of safety and stability which these banks enjoy, probably one of the main reasons for this rapid increase is the high rate of dividends which are being paid. Out of the 196 banks, 72 are paying 5 per cent; 20 banks pay from 4½ to 5 per cent, and the remainder pay 4½ per cent to 4 per cent.

* * *

"By far the largest investment for these deposits is in first mortgages in this State, considerably over a billion dollars being so invested. Possibly the industrial situation in New England has not been as good as in other sections of the country, but it is an undisputed fact that Massachusetts' thrift still leads the country."

* * *

Officers and directors of the Shell Eastern Petroleum Products, Inc., which has just been organized by the Shell Union Oil Corporation to enter the New England field, have been announced. The president will be Andrew F. Carter, former president of the New England Oil Refining Co., vice-president, William J. Filer, who has been assistant sales manager of the Roxana Petroleum Co., a Shell Union subsidiary; secretary and treasurer will be Urban F. O'Brien, who is with the New England Oil Co.

* * *

The directors are: J. C. van Eck, chairman, who is president and chairman of the board of the Shell Union Oil Corporation; Richard Airey, president of the Asiatic Petroleum Co., a subsidiary of the Royal Dutch-Shell Group; Avery D. Andrews, chairman of the board of the latter company; Samuel F. Dryer, director of the Shell Union Oil Corporation; Andrew F. Carter, Frederick W. Allen, senior partner of Lee, Higginson & Co.'s New York office; Ulrich de H. Daley, president of the Shell Petroleum Co., which operates in the Middle West; G. Leighdones, president of the Shell Union Oil Co., which operates in California and James H. Brookmire, secretary of the Shell Union Oil Co.

WESTERN UNION BONUS TO GO TO 40,000

Approximately 40,000 employes of Western Union Telegraph Co., including messengers, will share in the distribution of approximately $1,250,000 set aside from 1928 earnings for Employes' Income Participation Plan.

Every employe who has been with the company 19 months or more will be eligible to share in the fund.

Employes of Western Union have been paid more than $15,500,000 under the income participation plan since its inauguration in January, 1926.

The announcement of 1928 follows closely the announcement of a $2,000,000 wage increase which was granted to employes, effective Jan. 1, 1929, and which was in addition to various individual wage increases granted at the same time.

Action Proposed On U. S. Worsted

A letter to shareholders of the United States Worsted Co. proposing formation of a stockholders' protective committee at the annual meeting March 2, states that the report for 1928 will again show as a loss and that it will show as of December 31, 1928, quick assets of $600,000 with no outstanding indebtedness except that on the debentures.

It is further stated that the mortgage on the Saxon Mills is about to be foreclosed and it is doubtful if its principal will be realized. Considering market conditions and the inability to sell the USWCO Mill at $200,000, it is doubtful if all of the plants would liquidate for $1,000,000.

"After waiting all these years," the letter declares, "we believe that a turn in the worsted and yarn business is near at hand and that this is no time to liquidate and dissolve the company."

Montgomery Ward

Montgomery Ward & Co. is opening one of its retail chain stores at Stamford, Ct., February 9.

SINCERITY OF RESERVE IS QUESTIONED

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice-president of the Cleveland Trust Co., one of the country's best known stock market statisticians, indirectly questions the sincerity of the Federal Reserve Board's belief. At least he remains unconvinced that it is sincere until its actions speak as loud as its words.

Col. Ayres says: "The significance of the warning on the use of reserve credit depends entirely on how seriously they mean it, and on how vigorously they back up their word.

"If the Federal Reserve Board and Reserve banks genuinely undertake to stop direct and indirect use of credit for stock speculation, their action will surely bring this bull market to an end. This was demonstrated last month when temporary use of funds drawn off millions of reserve bank credit had to be employed to tide stock market over the year end.

"This bull market has largely been financed by corporation funds loaned on call market, but at the end of each month and each quarter, and particularly at the end of the year, corporations withdraw funds from call markets in large volume to pay dividends and to make their year-end statements without revealing that they are lending money in the call market.

"At these times commercial banks make up these losses by borrowing heavily from Federal Reserve System and placing funds on call to take place of corporation funds.

"If Federal Reserve System actually intends to terminate this practice, the action will be definitely felt within next few weeks."

Boston Notes

FOREIGN price of copper has been advanced by Copper Exporters, Inc., to 18½ cents, c. i. f. Hamburg, Havre and London.

Pacific Western Production Gains

Pacific Western Oil Co.'s production continues to show steady gains, as shown by the daily reports of production department. The present output is now running 40 more than 18,000 barrels daily. These figures do not include between 4000 and 5000 barrels a day of heavy crude shut in. Present production represents a gain of 5,000 barrels a day since the company's organization in November.

The company has 13 strings of tools running. Production might easily have been increased more rapidly, but is being built up on the conservative policy established by President W. C. McDuffie and Chairman Jacques Vinmont of increasing production only as warranted by the increase in proven oil reserves. It is believed that by following this conservative policy, stability of earnings can be assured and values based on future earnings become more permanent.

SEES WORSHIP OF SUCCESS IN TRADING

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

THE financial public is placing a higher appraisal value on outstanding success than ever before.

That is one meaning of the disposition to bid shares of pre-eminently successful corporations to levels that seem fantastic in relation to current earnings and assets. There is a widespread belief that in this period of heightened competition the best managed companies will become increasingly successful, while the less efficient competitors will tend to wither and fade away. High prices for good stocks represent investments and speculations not only among individuals but also among organized groups, including investment trusts and holding companies.

The slogan of the Wall Street bull seems to be borrowed from a national advertiser, eventually, "Why not now?" Whereas public utility and other companies show a regular trend of earnings which in years here scored justify much higher prices, the optimist feels that it is proper to anticipate such benefits in present prices. In some exaggerated cases, little room for profit is being left open for the next generation.

In the case of men of proven character and ability, Wall Street seems ready to hand over blank checks. The recent over subscription of the securities of the Allegheny Corporation is a case in point. It is the new holding company of O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, of Cleveland, and gives the management wide powers to invest and hold railroad and other stocks. The popularity of these two bachelor brothers rests on solid achievement. They are unquestionably the most creative railroaders on the railroad horizon and have brought to the realm of railroading the initiative and enterprise which in recent years have been more common in industry than in transportation.

The brothers, who once delivered newspapers along a route in Cleveland, emerged from their obscurity through their vision in developing the Shaker Heights suburbs outside of Cleveland. They got into the transportation field as a by-product of their real estate activities, but the railroad product has become their chief preoccupation.

The newest trend in the creation of American investment trusts is to give greater leverage to management. That is the British and Scottish idea. Many of the earlier American investment trusts, deliberately sought to restrict the discretionary trusts, which in recent months have come increasingly into vogue, are no better or no worse than the men behind them. They purport to assume expert and competent management of investment funds, plus the advantage of diversification and group activity. They will be successful in proportion to managerial skill and accordingly the question for the prospective investor to ask is what is the record and capacity of the active managers.

This era of prosperity has unquestionably raised the standard of living of the average American family. J. Sherwood Smith, the statistician of Calkins & Holden, has compiled interesting data concerning the boom in leisure activities. He estimates that in one season, 30,000,000 individuals paid $50,000,000 for football tickets.

McLellan Stores Sales Gain 59 P. C.

Net sales of McLellan Stores Company, including sales of the recently acquired Green Stores Company, for January, 1929, were $1,165,107, compared with $773,053 in Jan., ary of 1928, an increase of $392,027 or 50.7 per cent. For 1928 of $8,352,226 for the old McLellan Stores' chain showed an increase of 36.7 per cent over sales for corresponding period of the previous year, and sales of the Green Stores Company of $209,851 showed an increase of 109 per cent over the corresponding period of the previous year.

Boston Evening American Backs Auto Bill

Frank A. Goodwin, former state registrar of motor vehicles, and John Downs, Massachusetts legislative counsel of the insurance interests, will appear at the meeting of the Mayors Club of Massachusetts tomorrow noon at the Parker House to discuss the Goodwin-American bill to establish a state fund to provide compulsory insurance at cost to motorists.

The chief executives and many of the former mayors of Massachusetts cities will be present to hear the discussion.

Councilor Wilson Backs Auto Bill

"You can put me down as being strongly in favor of the bill filed in the legislature by Frank A. Goodwin and the Boston Evening American to establish a State fund to supply compulsory insurance at cost to Massachusetts motorists," said Atty. Robert G. Wilson, Jr., one of the members of Boston City Council.

"The present law is absolutely unfair and unjust to the motorists of this State," continued Councilor Wilson, "and it should be wiped off the statute books this session of the Legislature.

"I believe the contention of Goodwin and the Boston Evening American, that as the State compels motorists to insure their cars against personal injuries caused by automobile accidents, it should supply this service at cost.

AGAINST PROFIT

"It is quite natural that the insurance companies will do their utmost to retain this business because of the profit it yields. Their wishes or desires should not prevail over those of the hundreds of thousands of motorists in this State. This service should be supplied at cost, and fair minded men will reach that conclusion. There should be no profit in it."

If the Goodwin-American bill becomes law at least $7,500,000 annually will be saved by the cars of this State, for this amount saved $3,000,000 will be in insurance agents' commissions, alone.

Under the Goodwin-American bill a State Fund of $12,367,804 would be raised by charging $16 as insurance for every passenger car when registered, $25 for every truck and $50 for every taxi, rental car and bus. The present zoning system would be eliminated.

Instead of paying the above total for compulsory insurance this year Massachusetts car owners will pay between $20,000,000 and $21,000,000 to private insurance companies this year.

PRAISE EFFORTS

Many vitally interesting letters continue to come with signatures to petitions from readers of the Boston Evening American, who favor the present law in its workings, unjust. Several of the writers praise Goodwin and the Boston Evening American for launching House bill 225 in an effort to remedy conditions.

Edward Colwell of 396 Whipple st., Fall River, wrote: "I am sending a few signatures to the petition asking the Legislature to pass the Goodwin-American bill to provide compulsory insurance at cost to motorists of Massachusetts. It is too bad other newspapers do not follow the lead of the Boston Evening American and give publicity to this measure. The passage of this bill means so much in money saved to the motorists, and in justice to them, that I would say no other papers are advocating it. If given the publicity it deserves it would go through easily. I will do my bit to help."

E. E. Putney of 7 Stillman rd., Roslindale, wrote: "Enclosed find six more signatures to the Goodwin-American bill petition, making 32. I have sent in. Have received the larger forms I requested and will have them all signed. Every lover of a fair deal should back this movement of Frank A. Goodwin and the Boston Evening American."

H. L. Amie of 205 Lexington st., Auburndale, wrote: "Enclosed find signed petitions. It is time something was done for the motorists. We are being robbed right and left. I believe the proper way for compulsory insurance to be issued is by the State. My insurance company sent me a bill for $49, when it should have been $35. I mailed it right back. They sent another bill for $40. I will not pay it. It is high time this type of business was handled in the right way—by the State, and fair to all. Every car owner should do his utmost to bring about the passage of this bill."

CALLS IT ROBBERY

Victor W. Matule of 19 Hecla st., Dorchester, wrote: "I have been reading almost every evening about the Goodwin-American bill and it should be passed. I am a chauffeur who drives a car and feels he is being robbed because he has to pay the present compulsory insurance rates.

"I consider the present rates real highway robbery. If everyone who owns a car will sign the petition printed in the Boston Evening American and will either write or speak to his representatives and senators from his district this bill will become law and the present robberies will cease. Goodwin and the Boston Evening American are to be complimented for trying to give the people a break."

Walter Vandemark of 171 Walnut st., Somerville, wrote: "Please find enclosed petition slips, all signed by friends of mine. They, too, think the Boston Evening American and Mr. Goodwin will put this insurance bill over. I wish you success in the passage of this bill will mean joy among low-salaried men and their families."

P. L. Parsons of 45 Ashland st., Malden, wrote: "Keep up the good work. All fair-minded citizens are with you in the end in this fight. The present law is absolutely unjust and unfair to the motorists of Massachusetts. Wipe it out."

Readers of the Boston Evening American are invited to write their views on the present law as well as what they think of the Goodwin-American bill. What has been your experience, Mr. Motorist? Do you think the present law is fair to you and your neighbor? Do you want lower cost insurance? Write us your views.

Mayors Club to Hear Discussion on Goodwin Bill

Frank A. Goodwin, former state registrar of motor vehicles, and John Downs, Massachusetts legislative counsel of the insurance interests, will appear at the meeting of the Mayors Club of Massachusetts tomorrow noon at the Parker House to discuss the Goodwin-American bill to establish a state fund to provide compulsory insurance at cost to motorists.

The chief executives and many of the former mayors of Massachusetts cities will be present to hear the discussion.

Is your auto insurance costing you too much? Ought the law to compel you to furnish profits to private companies? Do the present zone rates seem fair to you?

Would you like the overhead cut from compulsory insurance?

Would you like to get your insurance and registration at one counter, at one time, and for one price? If so, sign the accompanying petition:

Petition to Legislature to Pass Auto Insurance Bill

I am a citizen of Massachusetts and sign this petition to the Legislature to pass the new compulsory auto insurance bill proposed by Frank A. Goodwin and endorsed by the Boston Evening American.

Malcewicz to Meet Stecher February 21

WINNER IS TO MEET CHAMP

Panther Joe Adopts Sonnenberg's Methods to Win Over McLeod

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

Panther Joe Malcewicz of Utica, New York, by his victory over Farmer George McLeod in the feature wrestling bout at the Boston Arena gets a match for Thursday evening, February 21, with Jye Stecher, former champion wrestler and scissors hold master.

The winner of the Stecher-Malcewicz bout will meet Champion Gus Sonnenberg.

Malcewicz, by taking the defensive against the wrestler from California, was successful in keeping the ring until late in the match, when he came to the front with his power hold to floor the California star.

It was one of the greatest wrestling matches seen here in this section.

Malcewicz won the match by pinioning Farmer George McLeod to the mat in 2 hours, 11 seconds with a flying tackle.

The final fall came after a series of head holds and flying tackles with Malcewicz getting the best and most of the attack. The action was so great at times that the crowd would rise to its feet in the excitement of the moment.

Malcewicz will meet the winner of the Stecher-Sonnenberg match in the finals for the world championship, and if he is successful in his attempt he will be given a fall with Ed (Strangler) Lewis.

FRIEDMAN GETS BIG CHANCE

Al Proskauer, young Jewish lightweight from Brookline, will get an opportunity next Tuesday night, when he steps into the ring at the Arena to battle Phil Friedman.

Proskauer has been scrapping for a long time, but has failed to get a break that would lead to a match with a boy who has a reputation to make.

Phil Mooney will be on hand to see Friedman in action, and will throw several fighters his way. Mooney is looking to turn out a champion.

Friedman has been showing the best brand of boxing in the ring that he has displayed in a long time, and with a little more experience the whole boxing world is looking for big things from him.

Proskauer is the product of Mooney's gym, and is rapidly coming to the front as a boy who will be heard from in the near future. He will battle Eddie Dowd, a hard-hitting boy from Providence.

Maurice Rosbury favorite amateur star, will be seen in action on the same card. He will meet Jimmy Casey of Dorchester in a six round bout. Casey is a boy who has been showing to good advantage in the ring, and is expected to be pitted against Rosbury.

WILDCATS WAR WITH B. U. FIVE TONIGHT

Boston University will play host to the University of New Hampshire quintet at the St. Botolph st. gym tonight. This will be the third game of the week for the Pioneers and they hope to chalk up their second victory in three days at the expense of the Wildcats.

B. U. has at last found itself and in spite of the loss of three stars in the last week, the Pioneer quintet is playing great basketball. On Monday night, Dartmouth took B. U. into camp by a narrow margin after a whirlwind battle.

Wednesday, the Pioneers downed Clark University by a 33-29 count. This was the first victory for Coach Karlson's five since December, but the boys have acquired confidence now and are out to make up for past reverses.

Coach Karlson is working hard with the players and is gradually developing a powerful aggregation.

Flash Keough will team up with Capt. Soutiere tonight and Bernie Nims will jump center.

CLUB SEXTETS SEEK TO SIGN MULLOWNEY

Boston's two outstanding amateur hockey clubs are having quite a battle behind the scenes in their efforts to obtain the services of Ed Mullowney, former Boston College captain and stellar defense man.

The B. A. A. has made overtures to entice Edward away from the law books and the University Club likewise is more than willing to see him put on the regalia of the Trinity pl. organization.

The coming clash between the clubs next Thursday, under the auspices of the American Legion carnival at the Boston Garden accommodations, for both want to be at their peak in strength for this all-important game.

The acquisition of Mullowney by either club would be a great stroke. State Commander John H. Griffin of the Legion, heading the general committee for the carnival, announces that everything is in readiness for the event.

Boston and Aviation

"City" Step Takes a Long Stride Toward a "Place in the Sun"

Achievements in the air are still thrilling us.

Captain Hawks wings across the continent in record-breaking time.

Lindbergh pioneers with airmail to Panama, inaugurating a new postal service and bringing our outlying Canal Zone in closer touch with our business and governmental centers.

Plans are shaped for the coming opening of the transcontinental rapid transit route, combining fast trains and faster airplane travel.

And now Boston takes a long stride toward a real "place in the sun."

One day a party of vacationers starts for Florida by plane. The next, we have the announcement of a regular passenger service in the near future—Boston to Hartford and Newark, employing three-engined planes and covering the distance in an hour and 40 minutes.

The proposed flight of Captain Harry Lyon to London from here next Spring should call attention to the comparative nearness of Boston to Europe, and its advantages as a hop-off and landing place for transocean planes.

With proper support of those leading the way, Boston has every chance of assuming a major part in America's aeronautical future.

Police School

It Will Lead to the Public Being Less Encroached Upon and Yet Better Safeguarded

Seeds that bear promise of growing into important benefits to the community were sown by District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell at the first meeting of his school for policemen.

Judging by attendance alone, the initial session was a success. Attendance was voluntary but, whereas accommodations were arranged for 600, there were 1500 present.

Policemen are presumed to know the law, but too often they do not, as the "professor" pointed out. It was encouraging to note that he sought with equal emphasis to correct their mistakes of omission and of commission.

No thoughtful man or woman will deny that the police should know exactly how far they can go to protect the public, and what they must not do in connection with law enforcement.

A warning against reckless use of firearms and "rough stuff" with traffic-law violators was much needed, but so was the advice to be drastic with gangsters and to make use of the right to question and examine persons abroad and acting suspiciously in the night time.

It is also true, as the "pupils" were told, that we have had too many killings by persons looked upon as "harmless nuts" who might have been kept off the streets with their delusions.

Business in the courts will be less fettered with bothersome side-issues, if policemen realize their rights and the limits of their authority under the law, and, of still greater importance, the people will be LESS ENCROACHED UPON and BETTER SAFEGUARDED.

Why Worry Now?

The Sun Sought Shine for a Billion Years, Says Scientist

Professor Millikan, of the California Institute of Technology, removes one cause for nervousness in this worried world. He tells us that the sun should shine for a billion years, and that, when it begins to dim, another sun will develop to take its place.

But it scarcely seems worth while to be concerned about that second sun. We really do not think we will wait for it. Probably it will not seem as bright and warm as the sun we have been used to.

So we will string along with the sun we know—our old friend and neighbor. We will grow dim and go out with it. By that time the traffic problem in this town will be solved, temperance will succeed prohibition, war will be abolished and the girls may be wearing their hair in braids again. Yes, a billion years will be enough for us. Professor Millikan should not bother about that second sun. We honestly do not expect to need it.

A Bobbed Goddess

She Will Be France's Golden Girl on Hundred Franc Pieces

France, which gave bobbed hair a mighty impetus, is going to immortalize the cropped coiffure. M. Chiron, Minister of Finance, has selected a bobbed model for the hundred franc gold pieces. This is to symbolize what the modern girl has done for the republic since war flamed across the continent.

Few will find fault with the idea. The feminine head on French coins is supposed to represent the Goddess of Liberty, and the bob itself was a gesture of feminine freedom. Even from a classic viewpoint short hair is not objectionable. Egyptian queens were bobbed, archeologists tell us, and Cleopatra was Egypt's most famous queen—beautiful enough to enslave emperors. On all counts, France is justified in making a bobbed blonde its golden girl!

Fashions for Men

If clothes made the man, what a perilous predicament most of us would be in, according to the proclamation of the Fashion Board of the National Association of Merchant Tailors in convention assembled. The board decided that to be considered well-dressed, a man should have 20 suits, 12 hats, 24 pairs of shoes and eight overcoats with accessories in proportion.

If a man should have that wardrobe, what should the well-dressed woman have?

Hot and Cold Moon

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

The moon is full now. Look up at her beaming face and bless her. How she adds to the splendor of the nights, especially where the fields and hills are clad in the ermine of snow. The full moons of winter run high because they have to be opposite to the sun in the sky, and the sun in winter runs low. When the full moon is on the meridian at midnight, the noon sun is on the invisible half of the meridian under the horizon, directly beneath the North Pole star.

Perhaps the moon looks cold to you, in accordance with the season and the appearance of the white landscape she shines upon. But the latest information from the astronomers assures us that her face, which appears cheerful enough, some say smiling, is boiling in a temperature of 265 degrees Fahrenheit—hot enough to melt sulphur! That is the temperature in the center of her disk, exposed perpendicularly to the rays of the sun. Over a circles a thousand miles in radius ther whole diameter is on[e] ya little above 2000 miles[?] a thin film of her surface is hotter than boiling water.

This fact and the astonishing ones that follow it have been ascertained by Edison Pettit and Seth B. Nicholson at the famous Mount Wilson Observatory. During a recent eclipse they selected a point on the moon where their magical electrical "thermo-couple" showed that her rocks lying in the sunshine had a temperature of 156 degrees. Then the shadow of the earth fell upon the moon, producing an eclipse of the sun there. During the eclipse the temperature on the moon dropped from 156 degrees above zero to 196 degrees below zero. What do you think of that for the home of the Moon Maiden?

But the moon warmed up again with equal rapidity. Half an hour after the eclipse ended the temperature had shot up from 196 below zero to 115 degrees above! Juliet was more right than she knew when she advised Romeo to "swear not by the moon, the inconstant moon." But it was only the moon's alterations of figures that awoke Juliet's distrust.

The reason why the moon grows hot and cold so quickly is because she is bare of atmosphere. On all sides the cold of open space touches her unshielded. The lack of atmosphere allows the heat to fly away again almost as fast as it arrives. Only about 6 per cent penetrates below the surface and even this is swiftly radiated away as soon as a shadow falls upon the moon. The skin of the little globe is burned like that of a hand held out in the sunshine on the ice-covered dome of Mont Blanc, but more than 90 per cent of the sun's radiation is immediately sent back into space without having time to penetrate. The moon is a two-faced babe of heat and of cold.

The moon's days and nights are each about a fortnight long and the imagination can hardly picture the ever succeeding torments of excessive, unearthly heat and equally unearthly cold that a terrestrial visitor to the moon would encounter. But it is a situation from which we here are saved only by the presence of the earth's airy blanket with its absorbing vapors, its shielding clouds and its ability to entrap a large portion of the heat supplied by the sun.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

This is a straight talk to parents.

You're having trouble with the youngsters, aren't you? Trying to make them slow down, cool off—show you respect and consideration—act as you did at their age.

Fifty times a week you tell them how you acted when you were young—

Lay off!

Stop telling the youngsters about the noble record you hung up in your youth.

The conditions of your youth had no more likeness to the conditions of their youth than a wheelbarrow has to a tri-motor airplane.

"Human nature doesn't change," you snort indignantly. "Children are what children have always been since Adam was a pup."

Human nature mayn't change from one generation to another—but human environment does change—and human environment has changed so rapidly in the last 20 years that we have been forced to face entirely new standards of human conduct.

Your youngster has something which you never had—

Something it was impossible for the average youngster to attain when you were young—

He has economic independence.

Any time after he's 14 he can earn his own living if he so wishes.

You couldn't do that—particularly if you were a girl. There were a few chores, to be sure. You could earn some pin money carrying groceries after school and on Saturdays, mowing lawns, raking leaves, chopping wood. And if you were a girl you might go in for school teaching later on, or plain sewing or practical nursing—

But youth wasn't regularly installed in industry—

The streets weren't filled with crowds of 18 and 19-year-old boys and girls going to and from offices.

Seventeen-year-old Jennie wasn't able to buy a fur jacket for herself, on the installment plan out of her own wages—

Nineteen-year-old Bill wasn't sporting his own roadster—

Kids didn't have the price when you and I were young, my dear. They do now. And that simple economic fact has made all the difference in the world in the relationship between parents and children.

If you think your child is going to sit in reverent silence and listen to you as if you were a Delphic oracle you're dippy. If you think he is going to obey commands based on the experience of YOUR youth, you're violently insane and ought to be restrained.

That youngster knows his world. The chances are he knows it a great deal better than you do. He is probably a much more efficient citizen of that modern world than you are.

Children have no particular respect for parents merely because they are parents. As a matter of fact they never did.

I liked my parents. At moments I even loved them. But I obeyed them because they held the purse strings and because of that had almost unlimited power to control my freedom.

Parents have practically no power to control their children's freedom nowadays. The job has taken it away.

But they still have the power to win their children's love and respect if they can prove worthy of the same.

And that's all the power any parent should have.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

If, strangely, some way you should see these lines and read the truth that like a lantern shines through every wistful word; if you should stumble back into the past along the bridge of memory, over a vast abyss, deeply stirred, then you will know I owe a debt to pay, a debt that I have owed you since the day with youth and love imbued, when laughing, joyous, hand in hand we went while earth and sky their lavish splendors blent to match our radiant mood; if someday, somewhere, you should read these words, and hear love singing through them all, like birds that voice their joy and praise, then know that all those years I owed you this: The memory of an April morning's bliss that made life sweet always!

The Hearst Papers Advocate

Day by Day Abroad

By O. O. McINTYRE

LONDON, Feb. 8—The Brighter London movement has made headway in spots. Regent st., long a sedate and aristocratic thoroughfare, now resembles the back drop of a flashy revue. Landedowne passage has become a passage instead of a dank and charming mystery. Cinema palaces offer a Paramount gingerbreadiness.

Many of those glamorous old homes so close to the business section with ancient walls of ivy and schools of frail gnats dancing about the hedgerows have given way to fancy-fronted shops. And London, I believe, has the most glittering galaxy of motor cars to be found anywhere.

The chauffeurs, too, are the sprucest in their form-fitting greatcoats with brass buttons, astrakhan collars and velvet caps to match. Each well-turned-out motor also has a liveried footman.

There are many new and gaudy hotels and cafes, opened during the year, to add a touch of brilliance.

And the electric sign dazzle at night approaches the effulgence of our own Times Square. The two most popular current plays are Jack Buchanan's "That's a Good Girl" and "Show Boat." The Savoy remains the high spot for tea and Chatrice's top hole in put-on-the-dog for dinner.

Night clubs play the same hide-and-seek game of Broadway. They are closed one night for violating the liquor regulations and open up the next just around the corner. Although this is the season, few are doing anything like a normal business. Night clubs are picking at the coverlets all over the world.

At tea—you take to it here like a duck to water—today a fone gentleman at a near table, featuring a set of Saville Row tweeds, an expansive vowel and a copy of the Tatler, was so annoyed by the hilarity of our party the big thus-and-so had the head waiter move him to the other side of the room.

As he passed us he hissed a benediction through elegant buck teeth. There is something about American cans that sturbs the natural English reserve. Still at that there was no particular one in a gathering of extraordinary dignity. He wore a frock coat and a red carnation rested in his buttonhole. I explained my wants in a well modulated voice. He merely cleared his throat and glared. Edging closer, I tried again, feeling like an American in the Louvre hunting a place to throw an apple core. He turned his back and continued to read. I don't know what was the matter, but I know I could never become his buddy.

BUT all London is not so uppish.

There is a friendly warmth among the so-called middle classes, especially store clerks. They never try to press a sale and appear eager and willing to show you everything. One who did not have an article I desired put on his hat and coat and piloted me three squares away to a rival shop that had it, proffering a cigarette en-route. Chomming pipple!

OVERHEARD in a hotel lift: "Each of us is trying to wangle a divorce on incompat- again. We've wonderful friends, but not a bit mates."

THE well-bred English maid is usually an outdoor girl. She has a mannish swing and is accompanied everywhere by a Sealyham, wire-haired for or three tired bloodhounds that somehow suggest the talented Wilton Lackaye. She is a good golfer, adept at tennis and often accompanies her husban on big game shoots in Africa. There are few clinging vines Complexions, due to the muggy climate, are the worst in the world, but oddly enough the beauty parlor does not thrive. Ladies have learned by long experience there is no help.

ENGLAND admits no dogs without a six-months' quarantine and yet there are the most comical looking canines in the world here—stody and shaggy with dead button eyes. About as handy knitting as tuning up a kettle drum. I'll still wager a full-blown native adenoid that with sufficient yarn I can crochet a better pooch than most of the fluffy specimens hereabouts.

WHETHER by accident or design I do not know, but in three eating places where waitresses are employed, men have taken my order and served my breakfasts. Just a man's man.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

CHOOSING a life-mate is a brain-test in which many women and most men prove that they need an alienist.

* * *

Ever since Eve went in for modesty and fig leaves, woman has been trying to discover what a man really WANTS her to be. Whatever man demands of women, he always GETS—but he gets it in such awful doses that he soon sickens of it, and wants something else.

* * *

Free-for-all kissing is the "To Let" sign on a woman's mind. Petting is the first symptom of sentimental paresis, that proves there is a vast vacuum where the brain ought to be.

* * *

A woman chooses a wrist-watch as a man does a wife. She picks it out because she likes its looks—and then spends the rest of her life wondering why it is so useless and unreliable.

* * *

It may be bad form for a man to pay his wife compliments and call her pet names in the presence of other women, but it's awfully good policy.

* * *

Wise men write a love-letter as cautiously as though they were writing for publication or posterity—sometimes they are.

* * *

It is almost as foolish to try to domesticate a wife as a bachelor after he has lost his front hair as to try to tame a wild animal after it has gotten its second teeth.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Knowledge is essential to conquest only according to our ignorance are we helpless. Thought creates character. Character can dominate conditions. Will creates circumstances and environment.
—Besant.

If we command our wealth, we shall be rich and free; if our wealth commands us, we are poor indeed.
—Burke.

Better late than never.
—Dionysius.

The consciousness of having done a splendid action is itself a sufficient reward.
—Cicero.

Success lies, not in achieving what you aim at, but in aiming at what you ought to achieve, and pressing forward, sure of achievement here, or if not here, hereafter.
—Horton.

Selfishness is the only real atheism; aspiration, unselfishness, the only real religion.
—Zangwill.

Logical consequences are the scarecrows of fools and the beacons of wise men.
—Huxley.

Wit is a happy and a striking way of expressing a thought.
—Penn.

It is conceivable that religion can be morally useful without being intellectually sustainable.
—Mill.

Where judgment has wit to express it, there is the best orator.
—Penn.

Adversity has no friends.
—Tacitus.

I love the man that can smile in trouble, that can gather strength from distress, and grow brave by reflection.
—Paine.
